

PUFFING
BILLY

DO YOU WANT 'PUFFING BILLY' SAVED

A chance to cast YOUR vote

- All over Victoria today people are discussing the State Government's decision to banish "Puffing Billy" from the railways system.
- This little train, which has been running through the hills from Ferntree Gully to Gembrook for half a century, has given pleasure to countless thousands of children and adults.
- It is more than just a train, it is a beloved part of our State's history.
- Please send YOUR opinion to The Argus by filling in the voting form below.

And so to bed
Puffing Billy's three locomotives, with "night-caps" covering their funnels, sleep peacefully in a shed at Upper Ferntree Gully. Top is a close-up of one of the three world-famed engines. A Railways decision this week has put them at rest for ever.

Now people in Dandenong Ranges (and thousands of others) who loved old Puffing Billy are up-in-arms against the decision.
